MARKET COMMENTARY

March was another good month for equity markets and as a result Strategic delivered a return of +1.48%. This brings the year to date gain to +5.99%.

The knock on effect of the US Federal Reserve's decision to keep interest rates low continues to reverberate around financial markets and is largely responsible for the positive return made in recent months. All asset classes moved higher last month with Asian equities leading the way. UK equities also performed well despite Brexit uncertainties. In particular companies delivering consistent profits and dividend growth such as Unilever and Reckitt Benckiser. Within the fixed interest section, longer dated gilts outperformed corporate bonds and index linked, whilst in alternatives the hedge funds selected produced good returns.

As we start the second quarter of the year, economic growth still appears to be decelerating and this is putting downward pressure on company earnings forecasts. Financial markets are, however, focussing on the prospects for a recovery in the second half of the year and so continue to do well. Diversification, quality and liquidity are the cornerstones of the Strategic portfolio. This approach positions investors to benefit whilst limiting the downside.

INVESTMENT THEMES

Prudential

Prudential's results in March were ahead at the headline level supported by reserve releases relating to slowing longevity improvement (consistent with peers) with the Asian business again demonstrating resilient growth. The 5% increase in the dividend is lower than expected despite strong solvency metrics, with management being conservative ahead of the demerger of M&G Prudential. The process is again described as being on track and we believe this will be a catalyst for re-rating.
