

COOKIES POLICY

At Quilter Cheviot, we are committed to protecting the personal information we collect when you use our websites and other services and ensuring that your personal information is collected and used appropriately, lawfully and transparently.

This Cookies Policy explains what cookies are, how Quilter Cheviot uses cookies and what you can do to manage how cookies are used. It should be read in conjunction with our Privacy Notice which describes how and why we process your personal information.

WHAT ARE COOKIES?

A cookie is a small file consisting of letters and numbers which is stored to your computer when visiting a website. A cookie is saved on your computer so that the website can remember some information about your browsing activity or preferences over time. The cookie will collect statistical information about how you use our sites, including information relating to the device's IP address, operating system, type of browser, the frequency and average length of visits, which pages you view during a visit, the effectiveness of advertising on our website, authentication information, whether you accept or reject our website terms, period of inactivity, time zones, language preferences and other regional information.

HOW DOES QUILTER CHEVIOT USE COOKIES?

Like most websites, we and other people acting on our behalf use cookies to:

- improve our website content and performance;
- estimate our audience size and usage pattern;
- speed up your searches;
- allow you to log in and authenticate who you are when you log on;
- recognise you when you return; and
- deliver a better and more personalised service by allowing us to customise our site according to your interests.

Our website gives existing clients the facility to use a cookie for the online account facility. This allows you to choose to save your user ID and password on your computer. When you next access the online facility from the same computer, your user ID and password will automatically appear.

We keep the information held in cookies we have set to a minimum and only we, our associate businesses, their authorised third parties or someone who has access to your personal computer can read it. Many web browsers allow you to control the use of most cookies through their browser settings.

Unless you have adjusted your browser setting so that it rejects cookies, our system will issue cookies when you access or use our website. By accessing or using our website you are agreeing to us using cookies. If you refuse to accept cookies by adjusting your browser setting, some or all areas of our website may not function properly or may not be accessible.

THE COOKIES WE USE

Strictly necessary cookies – these are cookies that we need to operate our website. They include, for example, cookies that allow you to log in to secure areas of our website.

Functionality cookies – these are used to recognise when users return to our website. This allows us to personalise our content, greet you by name and remember your preferences (for example, your choice of language or region).

Performance cookies – these cookies allow us to recognise and count the number of visitors to our site, and to see how these users navigate through the site while they are using it. This information helps us to improve the way our website works (by, for example, allowing us to see if visitors can easily access the information they need) and allows us evaluate how any advertising campaigns have performed.

Targeting cookies – these cookies record your visit to our website, the pages you have visited and the links you have followed. We may use this information to make our website and the advertising displayed on it more relevant to your interests, or to register when you have opted out of a particular service. We may also share this information with other organisations for this purpose.
